CLAIMING PROPERTIES ABROAD,

EITHER AS NEXT OF KIN, HEIRS AT LAW, LEGATEES OR OTHERWISE.

COMPILED BY

COLUMBUS SMITH,

OF WEST SALISBURY, VERMONT,

A. D. 1868.

BURLINGTON :

FREE PRESS STEAM BOOK AND JOB PRINTING HOUSE, 1868.

TO ALL PERSONS

CLAIMING PROPERTIES ABROAD.

COLUMBUS SMITH, of West Salisbury, Vermont, who has been successfully engaged in the prosecution of Claims in Europe for the last twenty-five years, having in connection with this business during the time, crossed the Atlantic sixteen times, and having procured and brought to America the largest properties ever procured in England for American citizens, having dissolved partnership with Mr. Fisher, has formed a co-partnership with A. B. Herrick, an attorney from Burlington, Vt., for the purpose of continuing the prosecution of claims of persons in America to properties abroad. They will now undertake the collection of property abroad, for persons in America on the most reasonable terms. From their great experience in this business, they have no doubt but they shall be able to give perfect satisfaction to all such as favor them with their business.

Mr. Herrick intends soon to leave for Europe, and will for a term of years make his headquarters in London, so as to give his personal attention there to such business as may be entrusted to him.

Mr. Smith intends for the present to remain in America, in order to prepare cases to forward to Mr. Herrick from time to time.

Mr. Smith would inform those who think themselves entitled to properties abroad, that he claims to have the largest collection of information relative to unclaimed property abroad, to be found either in Europe or America, that while recently in Great Britain he procured lists of the unclaimed dividends of the Bank of England, unclaimed dividends in the Court of Chancery, and in the East Indies, also unclaimed properties in the possession of the British Government, comprising the names and descriptions of several thousand persons entitled to various sums of money. He also procured the names of some 60,000 persons which have appeared in advertisements in Great Britain within the last one hundred years, as well as complete copies of many thousand next of kin and heirs at law advertisements. Among which may be found the following names :

An Examination of this whole Collection, which is claimed to be the most perfect collection of information relative to unclaimed properties abroad, can be had for a reasonable compensation.

This country, as is well known, was settled principally by persons from Great Britain and Ireland. So imperfect has been the means of communication between America and Europe, that thousands who came here never heard from their relatives after they emigrated. From time to time persons have died there leaving large sums of money by will or otherwise to their friends or relatives in America. In very many cases the persons here entitled have never heard of such property being left them, and others have heard of it, but had not the means here, or disposition to attend to it; consequently very many large properties are now there unclaimed belonging to persons in America. In most cases these properties can now be recovered, by the legatees, heirs or next of kin in this country, on their producing proper proof of title. The amount of property there unclaimed is very much larger than is generally supposed. The amount of money unclaimed, disputed or in abeyance in Great Britain and its dependencies, amounts to hundreds of millions of pounds sterling. This may seem an exaggerated account but it is nevertheless true.

In the Parliamentary return of the Accountant General of the Court of Chancery, in 1855, the amount of Stock and Securities in Court unclaimed, exclusive of Stock purchased with Suitors cash in Court, is stated to be between 47 and 48 millions of pounds, sterling.

In other Parliamentary Returns, in 1845, millions are shown to be unclaimed in the English foreign possessions.

There are hundreds of millions unclaimed in the Bank of England, and in South Sea annuities; and hundreds of millions in the possession of the Government which has escheated to the crown for want of next of kin, or heirs to claim it. This can now be recovered by the next of kin, or heirs at law, on their showing themselves such next of kin or heirs at law, though some of it may have been in the possession of the Government for over a hundred years. A large portion of the unclaimed property there is in possession of Administrators, Executors and Trustees, awaiting proper claimants. Properties so situated can usually be recovered by persons legally entitled, with little trouble and expense.

Communications are particularly invited from all persons, knowing or supposing themselves to be entitled to property within the Kingdom of Great Britain or Ireland.

The next of kin or the heirs at law of the following named persons can easily procure property in England on showing themselves to be such next of kin. Nearly all of them died in England

INSTRUCTIONS TO CLAIMANTS.

ENCLOSE LETTER STAMPS TO PAY RETURN POSTAGE.

Give the name of the person who was last in possession of the property you claim, and if you claim as a lineal descendant from such last possessor, trace the pedigree from such person to yourself so far as you are able.

If you claim as a collateral descendant from such last possessor, trace the whole family pedigree from a common ancestor from whom both yourself and such last possessor have descended.

If you claim under a will, trace to yourself the whole family pedigree from the devisee or legatee.

In tracing pedigrees mention the names of all persons descended from such last possessor, common ancestor, devisee or legatee, giving the names of all persons who have married into such family, with the date and place of each birth, marriage, death and burial.

Give the name of the place where each marriage and death took place.

Mention the date and the name of the place of your own and your ancestor's departure from Europe, the name of the vessel in which the voyage was made, and the place of landing, with place of settlement.

State particularly the locality of the property claimed, when and how you first heard of your claim, with the means of information and character of your informant.

State what records are contained in your family Bible ; what tombstones relating to your family, and contents of old family letters and other old papers in your possession.

Give every fact or tradition relating in any way to your claim.

State what steps have been taken, if any, to recover the property claimed, with names of persons employed, and their reports relative to the same.

Write plainly your name and your post office address.
